NATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY OF INDIA

Organized by

DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTER SCIENCE & APPLICATIONS

Sarojini Naidu's birthday is celebrated as “National Women's Day” of India on February 13 every year. Sarojini Naidu was also known as 'Bharat Kokila'.

We, the Department of Computer Science & Applications celebrated the memorial of “The Nightingale of India” Sarojini Naidu among our students and faculty members. We began the program by lighting the candles. 15 faculty members and 452 students participated in the event. Speech was delivered about Madam Sarojini Naidu by R.Thabithal, IIB.Sc., Computer Science. Her speech included:

To inculcate the students about her vision, how a person should be leading his/her life

- Inculcating the vision, to lead the life as an individual leader in the society with sincere, courage and earnestness in all the activities they involve in their life.
- She insisted deeper sincerity of motive, a greater courage in speech and earnestness in action.
- An activist in the matter of women's inclusion in public life, she taught our students especially girls to be more strong, efficient and to feel the equity among genders.
- She was an important figure in India's struggle for independence from colonial rule.
